Waverley Books Ltd. Hardback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Mein Rant - A Summary in Light Verse of 'Mein Kampf', R.F. Patterson, Heath Robinson, R F Paterson was a great fan of Gilbert and Sullivan, and when Germany invaded Poland on 1st September 1939, to reclaim the land they 'lost' after World War One, Britain stood alone against them. R F Paterson wrote a satire of Hitler's Mein Kampf in the style of Gilbert and Sullivan. It was for him the next best thing to fighting, for which he was too old. As impossible as it might seem to us today, within six months of declaring war, Britain was enduring a shattering and devastating experience. And Britain faced massive loss, and surrender. By May 1940 Winston Churchill, then Prime Minister, was being asked to approve plans to evacuate the Government, Royal Family and the Bank of England's gold to Canada. 200,000 British troops stood on the beaches of Dunkirk, unable to get home, while Churchill bartered with the Americans to send destroyers to help. In the previous six months, children had been evacuated from London and cities; men had been called up and mobilised, and women went to work in...
